PEEL-OFF TECHNOLOGY

Peel-off masks are skin care products that have been included in professional skin care routines for many years. These powder products are made of alginate and require a mixing step with water before being applied to the skin. A natural alginate complexation reaction consequently occurs, turning powder into a soft mask. Peel-off masks perfectly shape facial or body contours, helping active ingredients to penetrate the skin. Once dry, this second skin can be removed in one piece and does not need to be washed off.

APRICOT KERNEL POWDER

As its flesh, rich in nutrients and vitamins, apricot kernel is also a really interesting source of vitamins, especially vitamins A, C and E. Its richness in vitamins offers cutaneous anti-ageing properties and increases microcirculation, which are typical symptoms leading to dark rings under the eyes.

RICE POWDER

Rice powder is extracted from the hulls of rice grain. It has been used by Asian women since the 16th century to cleanse their skin. Rice powder is well-known for its moisturizing and nourishing properties. Rice contains high levels of phenolic compounds which have an antioxidant activity and therefore act against skin ageing.
